Allianz D&O Protect

Public companies and their directors and officers face a broad range of challenges navigating today's global business environment. Tightening regulations, increasing governmental scrutiny, emerging technologies, rising shareholder activism, intensifying securities class action litigation, escalating merger objections and IPO activity all represent the growing and complex challenges facing companies and their leaders. Mitigating the risks of such evolving exposures is possible through development of a comprehensive and effective risk management program whereby liability insurance can play a key role.

The experienced underwriting team at Allianz understands the risks facing public companies, their directors and officers and has developed a comprehensive management liability insurance policy that provides market leading coverage to address the exposures facing public companies. Allianz has one of the strongest financial ratings (A.M. Best rated A+; S&P AA) of the leading global property and casualty insurers and is solidly positioned to partner with risk managers to address their executives' and company's exposures. In addition, Allianz has a global network of professionals to respond to multinational companies' international coverage and compliance exposures in more than 200 countries and territories worldwide.

Key features of the allianz d&o protect policy:

- Additional protection for Insured Persons – Asset and Liberty Protection Costs; Extradition Costs; Restatement Clawback Costs
- Broad Pre-Claim Inquiry coverage
- Additional limit for Non-Executive Directors
- Supplemental limit for Personal and Company Crisis Communication Events (no Retention applies)
