Allianz Private Company Protect Policy

Private companies face unique challenges navigating today's business environment from increased litigation risk to regulatory scrutiny and oversight. Managing the business, while facing these challenges, requires private companies to implement comprehensive and effective risk management programs. Management liability insurance can play a key role in mitigating risk. The experienced underwriting team at Allianz understands the risks facing private companies today and has developed a comprehensive modular management liability insurance policy that provides market-leading coverage to address the exposures facing private companies.

Our Private Company Protect policy is a fully modular policy from which the client may select the following coverages: Directors, Officers, and Company Liability; Employment Practices including Third Party Liability; Fiduciary Liability, and Crime. The policy form is flexible and gives the client options to tailor the products to their specific requirements.
